The Girl Who Prayed

Once there was a girl called Alice who always cried. She cried because she didn't have a mother or father. Whenever she saw children who had parents, she wished she had them too.

Alice lived in a place called an "orphanage" where children without any parents live. Every night, Alice prayed. She prayed that she could have a home where she could live with a mother and a father.

One day, a very kind lady who had gentle brown eyes visited Alice's orphanage. She liked Alice's painting of an angel praying. When she saw Alice, she smiled and said, "You are coming home with me."

Alice grew up in a home with her adopted family. It was a family which was caring and loving. Alice, who is now a woman, has adopted three children herself. She still prays. She prays for children who don't have parents.

The story is about

- A a girl who loved other children
- B a girl who wanted to have a family
- C a girl who painted so well
